

Summer Biomedical Internship Program

SBI provides an opportunity for students who are interested in the Biomedical Sciences to participate in basic and clinical research in such fields as surgery reconstruction, orthopaedics, cancer, and epidemiology.

Each intern commits to:

- Enroll and complete training as a volunteer at the participating institution (including Community Regional Medical Center, Fresno State or a private clinic - depending on the primary location of the faculty mentor).
- Adhere to all rules, policies and procedures established for volunteers at those institutions and those required by their mentors. (Interns will be under the direct guidance and supervision of staff and/or faculty).
- Complete duties as described and assigned by the faculty mentor and participate as directed.
